MURDER MYSTERY WEEKEND 16-18 OCTOBER 2015

On the Friday night of our October Retreat, the Morganeers or as we were entitled by the hotel, the Mizon Car Club!, varied between doubt (nervousness) as to whether we could solve the mystery of who the murderer was, to brimming confidence..... This was one of the discussions on the night before our 'Murder Mystery' evening at dinner.

Eighteen brave Sherlocks or maybe Miss Marples had assembled for this brain scratching weekend at The Stirk House Hotel, Gisburn. On the Saturday morning 8 of the 9 Morgans set off on Moriarty Mizon's devious scenic run. Unfortunately for the budding sleuths the Miss Marples discovered SHOPS on our coffee refuelling stops and one Miss Marple was seen to be buying cushion material at a bargain price. The sleuths arrived back at the hotel in time for a cleansing ale, the rugby match and time to sharpen their pencils in preparation for the mystery adventure.

The After Dark Murder Mystery Company had prepared a James Bond evening, including a second Bond – Robot Bond. The Sherlocks and Miss Marples had appropriately attended the evening wearing their dinner suits and evening dresses. The Sherlocks regaled each other with tales concerning the age of their suits, while the Miss Marples hoped no one asked for details about their dresses! The scenes set by the actors were so engrossing that most of us forgot to take notes – our table, Team Red, was very grateful to Una for taking copious details that were very useful when we had to commit ourselves to paper, declaring who the murderer was. The Team Maccas were the top sleuths, not only working out who the murderer was but being able to back it up with the correct reasons – incredible. Well done Francesca and Neil.

On Sunday 6 brave souls set off on what turned out to be a 14 mile walk. It was very scenic, along the river valleys in the surrounding area of the hotel. Luckily we were well prepared with packed lunches as the pub in Bolton in Bowland was shut. Coffees and very decorative pieces of cake were demolished in the pub at Sawley. We also saw the huge Georgian style mansion being built for the owner of Boundary Mill by the side of the river Ribble in Sawley.

On Monday morning we waved 'goodbye' to The Stirk House Hotel – thank you for a very enjoyable weekend, with excellent food – and 'goodbye' to our new friends Stephanie and Dennis from Welshpool and Judith and Nigel who once again had joined us from Devon. Thank you Moriarty Mizon for planning a great weekend.
